Week 4

12/1/2021 • Issue #4

Howdy Dickinson WeWrite Teachers!

We hope you had a wonderful, well-deserved break and that Week 4 is going well. Here are some answers to your FAQs as well as some updates and key things to keep in mind in our new newsletter format!

Progress

Scheduling Observations & Modeling

December 6-10: Dr. Debra McKeown will be in DISD next week! We are trying out a new scheduling process.

Resource Reminder

Don't forget to take advantage of the PowerPoints and other resources in the file library!

FAQs & Important News

- Student folders, transition handouts, and posters should have been delivered to your school! If you did not receive materials, please let me know.
- The majority of teachers in our observations are on or finishing lessons 3 or 4!
- Keep up the great work with reviewing strategies every time you teach!
- Make sure to use the software in conjunction with your instruction! The online lessons mirror your teaching so try to keep kids in pace to maximize learning.
- When TAPPING prompts, remember the first P is Purpose and the second P is Parameters. Purpose involves genre words/phrases like "Give your opinion", "convince", "persuade", etc. Parameters involve the structure and form of the writing such as "write an essay" or "write a letter", "write 2 paragraphs", "include three reasons to support", etc.

Technology Tips

- New-student software login requests: please send me an email including:
  - the student's DISD number
  - date of birth, and
  - writing teacher.
- SWIVLs are still being setup at the district. Rolling out absolutely as soon as possible!

Observations & Fidelity

25 observations completed
80% average fidelity

If you haven't been observed yet,

Other questions or feedback? Reach out! We are here to help.

THANK YOU for your amazing work!
Your students are well on their way to becoming great writers.
